BPH Corporate seeks cancer drug partner

Source: News Bites

BPH Corporate Ltd announced on March 22 that it is looking for a drug development partner for its new microtubule anti-cancer drug BPH 8 that can disrupt adhesions between vascular endothelial cells.

The company is engaged with Epichem in pharmaceutical development of clinically suitable forms of BPH8.

As a result of medicinal chemistry by Epichem a drug with low nanomolar activity has progressed to in vivo testing of anti-tumour activity. It is in proof of concept stage.
